

Elevate your student success strategy with Blackboard

Actionable data is a crucial factor in all student success strategies today but existing solutions miss a critical piece – real-time insights from students. Blackboard’s student success platform combines student engagement data with academic and persistence data to help students, faculty, and advisors all make more informed and timely decisions.

Our student success solution both engages students and empowers institutions to help students reach their true end goal – a career.

Mobile-first tools built for the lifestyle of today’s students

Comprehensive, tailored models for advisors and faculty

Together we can help you:

Drive student engagement and outcomes with a unified experience across learning, planning, and support

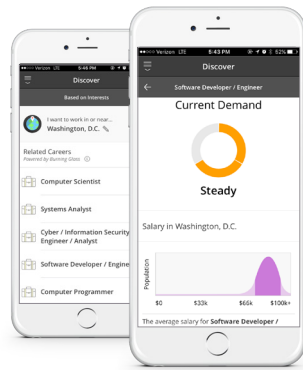

Impact retention quickly by integrating with already adopted platforms

Scale and intervene smarter with robust data insights from the LMS, SIS, job market data, and student engagement

Support and guide students 24/7 with an always-on mobile app

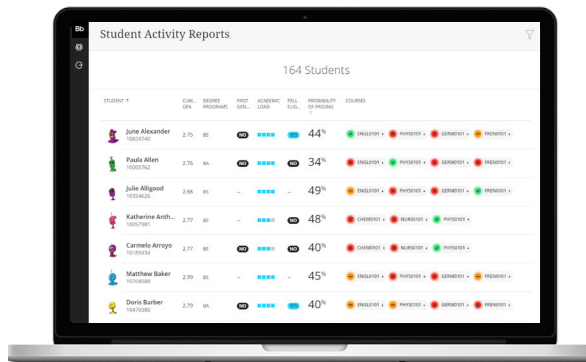

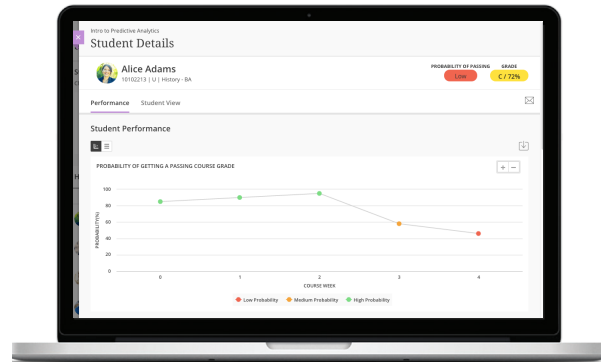

Engage students on a daily basis across planning, learning, and support to guide them to better outcomes. Students can:

- Explore careers and degrees based on their interests
- Identify paths that lead to a successful future
- View real-time career demand and salary information
- Easily connect with advisors at the touch of a button

Enable faculty to reach the right students at the right time with predictive analytics built right into the LMS. Faculty can quickly:

- Understand who is at risk of not passing
- View weekly individual vs class LMS engagement
- See history of risk predictions and grades
- Communicate with advisors

Empower advisors to better engage and support students during critical milestones with a holistic view of students across:

- Academic and persistence risk
- Career interests and aspirations
- Sentiment and engagement
- Course plans and schedules
